Taxonomy of the genus Oncopeltus (Hemiptera: Heteroptera: Lygaeoidea: Pentatomidae). The systematics of the genus Oncopeltus is reviewed, new data for species are presented, and a new combination is proposed. Oncopeltus achilles Stål 1859 is redescribed for the first time, and the following new synonyms are proposed: O. notatus Uhler, 1837 = O. tibialis (Uhler, 1837), syn. n. and O. villosus Uhler, 1837 = O. lacustris (Mulsant, 1838), syn. n. Furthermore, the distribution and bionomics of O. achilles are briefly updated, and two new subspecies are described. The term "accariatus" is proposed as a replacement of "maculatus," which refers to the marginal ciliation on the first segment of the antennae, and the elytral coloration. O. texanus Del Ponte 1883, syn. n., and O. constrictus (Linnaeus, 1758), comb. n. are transferred from the genus Apropholismus Forero to Oncopeltus, and the species O. acupictus Zacharias 1917, comb. n., O. bolivianus Uhler, 1837, comb. n., and O. knulli Vimmer & Mikolaj, 1989, comb. n. are transferred to the genus

Priononcus Germar & Westring, 1851. According to the analysis, 21 species and two subspecies are currently recognized in the genus Oncopeltus.

Q: CSS pathfinder with ArcGIS Pro How do you style an attribute table in ArcGIS Pro with CSS style? For the past few weeks I've been trying to do this, but I can't seem to figure it out. I've tried every single pathfinder that has appeared on the ArcGIS website, but none have worked. I am currently using this CSS style table { border: 3px solid f678ea9f9e
